Formerly, several religious communities prayed this stanza several times a day. He sends them messenger after messenger. There is an account written in the fifteenth century that lists fourteen stations. But Timothy Perry presents a Mary who belongs in Lent as much as in Advent, showing what it means to die and live with the crucified and risen Jesus.

Looking at Mary so full of love, and knowing that she is looking back at me, the result is a complex, inviting, strong character a disciple to be emulated by all Christians, especially during this holy season. This study of Mary in Lent is insightful and deep while written for all levels of faith and education.
